The village of Moonfleet... (narration)

Chris de Burgh

The village of Moonfleet lies half a mile from the sea, in the centre of Moonfleet bay, a death trap for sailors caught in a south-westerly gale.

It was on a cold February night in the year seventeen hundred a nd fifty eight that young John Trenchard, a boy of 15, set off to the graveyard in search of the treasure that was said to be guarded by the ghost of Blackbeard.

But it was not the light from Blackbeard's lantern that John sa w that night, but from smugglers in the bay. And soon, he was t o be caught up in their dangerous world, and his life would change forever.
