Reverie

Chris Isaak

Where do you go when it's over when the reverie goes up in flames there's no such thing as tomorrow when you love me and leave me this way I know it's over until you need me again your eyes avoid me it's a game that I can't win wish I could be like you and have a heart that can't be broken