

The Promise

Chris Murray

welcome to my life, welcome to my heart welcome to my soul let lovin' be our art, happiness our goal for the rest of time, know your love is mine and my love is yours for through the trials of time the faithful love endures because I promise you the world and I'm giving you forever giving you my love and leaving you never from the well we've tapped spring forth happy days warm and tender nights we'll build a world of love a garden of delight we'll let karma send us a perfect end to this fairy tale two hearts that would not bend a love that would not fail because I'm giving you my word that I'm loving you forever and leaving you never

on the waves of love and the winds of time we set sail to our lives though wind and waves grow strong the strong at heart survive as the years go past and we come at last to face our final dawn when bodies have collapsed spirits will carry on because I promise you my love that love can last forever giving you my heart

and leaving you never
because I promise you the world
and I'm giving you forever I'm pledging you my soul
and leaving you never