She Knows How to Fly

Chris Norman

She laughs too much, she talks too loud She acts like she's indifferent You'd see her face in any crowd She's not so insignificant

In her high heeled shoes and her long black hair She'll tell you it's irrelevant And where she goes you know she's there She talks like she's intelligent

And she knows how to fly She knows how to move me She knows how to fly She knows how to fly

She won't wait or hang around She says that she's too busy I'm floatin high above the clouds She makes me feel so dizzy

And she knows how to fly She knows how to move me She knows how to fly She knows how to fly

Stand in the rain Take off your shoes again I couldn't stand the pain But I didn't know it

She laughs too much, she talks too loud She acts like she's indifferent You'd see her face in any crowd She's not so insignificant

And she knows how to fly She knows how to move me She knows how to fly She knows how to fly

And she knows how to fly She knows how to move me She knows how to fly She knows how to fly
