Yeah
Shit it sucks growing up man
Shit changes
You lose touch with people
You lose friends along the way but
You just gotta keep going man
Yeah

Man it sucks growin up Gotta let go of the past Not every childhood friendship is gonna last People grow up, and move on for better or worse All we prayin for is that it doesn't end in a church We used to go on L rides like the cities hours But now we all got real jobs, and shitty hours And those the lucky ones who earn a check The ones who don't sit at home all day and blow percusets Cause I seen a lot of people on that path And it sucks cause they almost never come back It's a sad truth the life it's ruthless right? As a kid we never thought we could lose the fight Shit we all have big dreams back in middle school But real life is played by different rules And reality hurts so why I always keep a bag of the purp And always pray for the best until they put my ass in the dirt Word

Nothing's free
Longing for
Used to be
Still it's hard
Hard to see
Fragile lives
Shattered dreams
