Burn

Chris Young

You take a wrong turn, drop a ball, fall short You labor in vain Yeah, you choke, miss the boat, bomb out, cave in Fall flat on your face, yeah, that's everyday life But sometimes

You hit a good lick, the stars light up Your ship comes in, you make your mark You catch a break, and you're sittin' on top Yeah, cream of the crop

You're the stuff, you set the bar You beat the odds and there you are Spend most your life sittin' in the dark waitin' your turn But every now and then you burn

You go wild in style, chest out, chin up You're king for a day And then reality hits like a fist, hits you hard Steels your thunder away and when it beats you down The wheel spins around

You hit a good lick, the stars light up Your ship comes in, you make your mark You catch a break, and you're sittin' on top Yeah, cream of the crop

You burn like a beacon, burn like a porch light Burn like a blue star, burn like a bonfire Burn like a flicker in a red hot flame Burn like a match in a deep dark cave Like a midnight mile-high blaze

You hit a good lick, the stars light up Your ship comes in, you make your mark You catch a break, and you're sittin' on top Yeah, cream of the crop

You're the stuff, you set the bar You beat the odds and there you are Spend most your life sittin' in the dark waitin' your turn But every now and then you burn, yeah, you burn

Like a porch light, like a blue fire You burn, burn, burn, burn
