

I Hear You Call

Christopher Cross

Moving in and out of light
Changing shapes of shadowed life
Bleeding out white
Pastel

To true color
Path crosses path ahead
Which way do I go
Did you go, did you go

Just before I'm lost
There's a heart on the wind

I can hear your voice again
I can feel your love again
I hear you call
Soothing motion of a dying storm

Morning tumbles from a golden horn
What you loved
What you lost
What you gained

Are the things that set you free
Forgiving bridge of now and then
Time's a canyon you can cross again
Soul touches soul

And the sound that they make will never end
I can hear your voice calling me
I can feel your love again
There's a hero's hand

Breakin' my fall
You drown the siren's song
When I hear you call