

Intelligence tested stupidity manifested
I wish I could rest in this world of arrested liars
I'll set the fires free that burned
Inside of me uncontrollably

Being me doing things that I am
Why I gotta pay a fee for being me Uncle Sam
You are the hat I am the cat
You ingulp me because I'm just another stat

What up with your front so what
What up what up what up what up
You grow up pulling stunts no luck
What up what up what up what up

I scream out to the world in distress
I confess I've been at rest
At some situations which left me contemplating
And left me hating my reaction
To the action Satisfaction
Guaranteed and obtained after the Decision to go forth has been made
I slayed all the choices from the start
I found the only voice is in my heart

I change phase and I make you say what I change phase and I make you say ho

To chart amazing and it's possible
Two months later the label
Looks at you as tossable
Its cost is full, of the price you pay to make it
They shook it and they shake it
Just to find that they have faked it
For what?! To see how far that they could go
This capitalistic fame is not gain
When you can't flow
So go row your boat gently down the stream of Society
Why do you lie to me and
Why do you trick yourself
To find the knowledge on the used shelf
It's selfish and on the dish left is only parsley
There's no sign on knowledge's door
Saying please use sparingly
It's scarring me, but I found the answer
It's POSITIVITY. So I ask you
