

A Woman's Voice

Chuck Prophet

A woman's voice can drug you
It happens all the time
You start up down the middle
End up parted on the side

Yes, a woman's voice will drug you
And lead you all around
Way down, past the bus station
Where nobody should be hangin' around

Oh, sweet baby, stay right where you are
I just wanna get up and turn on the light
What's so great about the dark?

Woman's voice can drug you
She'll be lookin' for the chance
If you're lucky she might roll you like duct tape
You'll be entwined in a modern dance

Yeah, a woman's voice can drug you
Till you cannot feel your legs
Every syllable's like an ocean
Every word a frozen lake

Oh, sweet darlin', you [Incomprehensible]
Soon, we'll both be eatin' cake
You let me know when enough is enough
When enough is enough

A woman's voice can drug you
Like an AM radio
Yeah, like a motorcycle preacher
Like a Sunday far from home

Yes, a woman's voice can drug you
Through a red light in the rain
From the top of De Longpre Avenue
To the bottom of the drain, okay

Oh, sweet baby, stay right where you are
I just wanna get up and turn on the light
What's so great about the dark?
What's so great about the dark?

A woman's voice can drug you
And all your circuits gonna harm
You'll put on that stupid cape and smile
Fly straight into the sun

Yes, a woman's voice can drug you
So spend it while you can
Yeah, you may not believe me
But she used to call me senator

Just like Joan Crawford
She let me know who was the man

Oh, a woman's voice can drug you
Right up off your feet, it's glorious
Your wait just could be right over
Alright son, you go ahead and grab a seat

A woman's voice can drug you
