

Headlights

Cimorelli

Flannels and ripped jeans and friday nights
Now all I see is fields and fences Remembering the golden lights on a Sunday
Just wanting to feel something

These memories won't let me be
So I just play them back
I see summer rain and that autumn change
It all came so fast Smell of wood burning Sparks jumping around
I thought by now
I'd have it all figured out

With our hoods up and our hearts out
I was fearless before I got let down
I wonder if I could get back to that place now

I got two headlights
and a thousand miles to go
Two hundred feet of light
on this dark and windy road
Midnight stars haunt my sky
Burning scars fill my mind
I'm waiting on a wish to come true
Maybe I can find my way back to where I belong
Just following my headlights
Headlights
Maybe I don't have to see where I'm going
Just follow my headlights

I'm searching back roads
For wishes and dreams
Long gone ripped at the seams Whispered a quiet prayer in this heart of mine Filled with questions as big as the Tennessee sky

And like ghosts these memories just follow me around Looking back I never thought that I'd leave that town Airplanes and shooting stars were my company all along The moon stayed the same but those days are long gone

With our hoods up and our hearts out

to where I belong
Headlights

With our hoods up and our hearts out
I was fearless till I got let down
I wonder if I could
That place now

I got two headlights
to where I belong
Maybe I'll be allright
Maybe I'll don't have to know
Headlights
