

Painted A Rainbow

Cindy Morgan

There's not a cloud in the sky and the sun is shining likes it's never going down again
I start to feel like I can fly away
Sweet juniper under the clear silver Leading me into a place that I've never been
I stand and sigh under the sky
And my heart is like a child
I'm alive again
All the dancing
In the searching
In a daze
Never knowing
I was on the edge of this horizon
But your love showed me the way
Now there's a Rainbow for me
But the promise that we will live in each day
Gets shaken in the gray
But now I believe
And life is like the sweetest refrain
Since you painted a rainbow for me
Lord you painted a rainbow for me
I think about days that I spent crying
All the games I played
He loves me then he loves me not So all alone wondering if I'd ever fill the emptiness in my broken heart
But now I'm dancing
No more searching
Now I'm free
Walking in an endless horizon
And you're the reason I sing
Repeat Chorus
Won't you go with me
To where the angels come to sing
His water washes away our sins
Gives hope to life
Brings life again and again
