

He was looking for someone
Who could keep him guessing
A little fevered tap-dance of emotion
She was looking for someone
Who could keep her happy
Two ships collide on different oceans
You know how the story goes
How it's bound to end
Cinderella thinks she's found herself a shining prince
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in
He was working his days away for next to nothing
To buy a piece of happy ever after
She decided she wanted more
Than he could offer
the invisible land of greener pastures
You know how the story goes
How it's bound to end
When reality awakes in never-never land
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in
And I hear you say
That you're a victim of circumstance
Don't you wait for a rainy day
Give something real a chance
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in
Yeah they'll tell you that the storybook is really true
But it's gonna break their hearts, living in make-believe
Oh yeah the one and only storybook that's really true
Is the one that'll change your heart
Give you something to believe in