Circa Survive

Don't know why so much confusion needs to be obsessed about Under the mountain, the seeds depression
watch it disappear

Don't remind me again
It's already written

Distance always seems familiar Nothing here can change without listening carefully for your queue to exchange the other lines

Late at night and call to us building nesting in our skulls so it can rest conveniently conserving all the energy it takes lower your head and take some time to feel the sound
Surrender expectations
It's not just an explanation that we've found

Don't remind me again
It's already written and nothing's only alive it's already been given

Don't know why so much confusion
needs to be obsessed about
Under the mountain, the seeds depression
watch it disappear

Late at night and call to us
building nesting in our skulls
conserving all the energy it takes
lower your head and take some
time to feel the sound
Surrender expectations
It's not just an explanation that we've found

There's no need
There's no need to force it down
There's no need to force it down
I just need
I just need to make a sound
There's no need
There's no need to force it down
There's no need
I just want
I just want
I just wanna make a sound

There's no need
no need to force it down
