I don't know who invented the clock/but it began a process that will never stop/at the age of six or seven or so/it was a decoration that went tick tock/ $\,$ then by ten they invented the watch/portable guidance till the hands fell off/and a few years later it was luminous hands/then digital figure s to help you understad/conditioned by punctuality/knew when to be there - bu t not where to be/we thought we could control the time/by always knwing what i t was/now every action has a certain speed/as we let time control us/every tech nological step/is faster than the one before/watching the neighbours and the f ashion shows/to see if we need to know more/desparate to be one step ahead/l oving to be followed but still needing to be led/so keep up the pace and ke ep in line/you're either in the race or you're left behind/you may feel part of society but the truth is more sublime/I said "stop! take a look around you"/but you never had the time
