

Common Weather

Citizen

The city's getting darker by the second
And we're losing sleep and losing friends in time
Where did all the weekends go
The wasted time and youth

Thin lines again
I never knew just what I've missed
But it's hit or miss this time
I've paid my dues now it's time to get this right

I know that things are changing now
I know that things are changing now
I know that things are changing
The only place I know has turned on me

Take a look into the setting sun
Take a look and who are you going to miss
