

It's Not Your Fault

CIV

Another night I'm lying in my bed
Can't stop these voices pounding in my head
We all want to be someone
Who'll be remembered when we're dead
Have we ever changed anything with all the things
We did and what we said they don't remember your name
Tell them again
They don't remember your name
You tell yourself
You tell yourself

It's not your fault
Who's to blame
It's not your fault
They don't remember your name

Now what can you say
You didn't want it to end this way
Now what can you say
You faded away

Never left a mark on anything
Disappeared without a face
Only sure of one thing
It sucks to be a nameless man without a face
They don't remember your name
Tell them again
They don't remember your name you tell yourself
You tell yourself

It's not your fault
Who's to blame
It's not your fault
They don't remember your name

Now what can you say
You didn't want it to end this way
Now what can you say
You faded away

It always happens this way one me
I learn from you who I want to be
It's the only way for me
It's not your fault
Who's to blame
It's not your fault
They don't remember your name!