Shout It

Nothing's changing There's no way out A generation Whose time has come to ... Shout it! Over and over, over and over - if you want to be heard you've g ot to shout it! Over and over, over and over I've got a friend and he doesn't understand Why he's got cuts and bruises up and down his hands He's got all the time But he's got none to spare and no one even told him that life i sn't fair and no one cares Shout it! over and over, over and over If you want to be heard you've got to shout it! over and over, over and over What are your waiting for The rest of your life is knocking at your door You find it so easy to hide (You find it so easy to hide) Cause you're safe and warm when you're inside You've blown a million opportunities But now the time has come for you to Shout it! over and over, over and over If you want to be heard you've got to shout it! over and over, over and over now You're scared You think your time is running out Had all the time in the world You said "don't worry " You've got it all figured out Had all the time in the world, Now I think this is your last chance! My generation Your generation You say you wanna be heard You've got to stand and shout it! Shout it! over and over, over and over If you want to be heard you've got to shout it! over and over,

Before it's too late!

over and over
