The shore down under

Clan of Xymox

Lonely As lonely as I can be Slowly As slow as time can be I stared into the sea I stared out to the waves Slowly as slow as waves can be When will you coem to me When will you come to me Where the summer burns blue and green Here on this burning sand I listened to this hungry sea It's falling on the level shores And the wind blows through the trees And I think of you And I think of the days If only I could see your face The price of a holiday Hope the wind will carry me away Hope the wind will carry me away Listen, listen Listen to the siren Hear your voice Your voice cried by the river Slowly, slowly It flows to the sea When will you come to me When will you come to me