

Idiot

Clap Your Hands Say Yeah

A comet's tail, a hairy star You swimming to an island peeking through the sea
On a quiet night, you left your devoted husband and ran around like you was young again

But the devil don't care what you do
The only one who cares is you

From a cirrus cloud You got so far away and how could you have expected me to see you?
The sun will go down and as surely as the day ends you will lose control again

But the devil don't care what you do
The only one who cares is you

Damnably
My impatience is unforgivable You better escape while you can but uncertainty it has tied you to this rock Now the needle draws no blood

But the devil don't care what you do
The only one who cares is you