Eric Clapton

You speak to me in sign language,
As I'm eating a sandwich in a small cafe
At a quarter to three.

But I can't respond to your signlanguage.
You're taking advantage, bringing me down.
Can't you make anysound?

'Twas there by the bakery, surrounded by fakery.
This is my story, still I'm still there.
Does she know I stillcare?

Link Wray was playing on a jukebox, I was paying
For the words I was saying, so misunderstood.
He didn't do me no good.
