

Why are you complaining about the violence on tv when the biggest problem is the violence in reality you say the media's responsible for choosing what they show but I think we're all smart enough to know that the news is here to show us what is really going on, entertainment isn't real so how could it be wrong There ain't no point in banning everything you hate to see, cos if you don't approve all you really have to do is turn off your tv

Violence was here before we had the television, so I don't think the people really need your supervision cos' nobody was laughing when the scenes of war exploded, it's easier to laugh when the gun ain't loaded In reality you're dead when you're a victim of a gun but on a television show the situation can be fun cos' the biggest jokes in life are always based on our reality, the difference is an actor doesn't kill to make his salary

You can't stop the violence with your fake morality cos human nature made brutality
You can't stop the violence with your fake morality
when human nature made brutality Why are you complaining, why are you complaining, why are you c omplaining
the only real problem is the violence in reality if you want to ban a violent show then ban the news cos' that's the only film everybody's gonna lose You can't chose and no one's getting payed, the only thing that's happening is people getting slayed Film fiction is a reflection of the facts of real life, it's impossible to kill somebody with a plastic knife, so why are you complaining about the violence that you see on t v

when the only real problem is the violence in reality

You can't stop the violence with your fake morality
cos human nature made brutality
You can't stop the violence with your fake morality
when human nature made brutality
Why are you complaining, why are you complaining, why are you c omplaining
the only real problem is the violence in reality...etc