

Where Do I Go from You

Clay Walker

I gas up my truck and I drive into town
But I spend all my time just running around
Trying to shake this negative mood I'm in

I've nowhere to go if I wanna get down
All the usual suspects are hanging around
But after a round or two, it was just a another day again

For a minute or two I'll get you off of my mind
But you keep coming back to me every time

Where do I go to get over the fact
That you got on a plane and you ain't coming back?
I said what I said and you did what you had to do
Where does a man have to go to get over the truth?
Where do I go from you?

I bury myself in my job all day
Just trying to get lost in the usual ways
Smiling and laughing and joking around with the guys

Gotta do something to deaden the pain
So I stare out the window just watching the rain
But all I can see in the haze is the gray of your eyes

So what do I do with all the pieces of you in me?
If you're never coming back, set me free

Where do I go to get over the fact
That you got on a plane and you ain't coming back?
I said what I said and you did what you had to do
Where does a man have to go to get over the truth?
Where do I go from you? Where do I go from you?

Where do I go to get over the fact
That you got on a plane and you ain't coming back?
I said what I said and you did what you had to do
Where does a man have to go to get over the truth?
Where do I go from you? Where do I go from you?
