Crush

It was cold outside when you walked in How was I to know the way that I would feel You kissed me like a promise and From that moment on I realised that we'll

We'll be flying We'll be floating Just as long as you're with me

It's just a little crush But now it's turning into love I'm tripping on a world of everything With what your love brings It's just a little crush You know I can't give you up, who Who would have thought that our first kiss Could possibly lead to this

As natural as breathing You become a part of me I don't want this dream to end To touch you and to feel you near As far as this love goes To the sky and back again

We'll be flying We'll be floating Just as long as you're with me

It's just a little crush But now it's turning into love I'm tripping on a world of everything With what your love brings It's just a little crush You know I can't give you up, who Who would have thought that our first kiss Could possibly lead to this

Now everything is clear (clearer) I couldn't wish for anyone to love me better And I love to watch you move And I love the idea of loving you It's so easy to do

It's just a little crush But now it's turning into love I'm tripping on a world of everything With what your love brings It's just a little crush You know I can't give you up, who Who would have thought that our first kiss Could possibly lead to this

It's just a little crush But now it's turning into love I'm tripping on a world of everything With what your love brings It's just a little crush You know I can't give you up, who Who would have thought that our first kiss Could possibly lead to this