God Answers Back

Clem Snide

You better pray you never wake up To find your dreams have all come true Cause if you get everything you hope for Then I will have to punish you

I need you just as much as you need me And the flower-loving bees Your blood will color every sunset Your tears will help me grow some trees

Here is my joke, the thunder's laughing Here is my word to lighten the day Try to forget yourself, remember Your broken heart will lead the way
