A Lover's Clown

Tiny peices of my heart Like confetti everywhere Hidden sorrows in the dark You can feel it in the air The spotlight finds me I can no longer hide my frown Say hello to a lover's clown

Distorted mirror images Turn the good to bad If that's not the way it is Why am I so sad? Strangers laughter is the only sound Silence from a lover's clown

Girl that's me everybody's laughing at With a big red nose and the tears and the silly act Comedy, tragedy, reality It all plays the same If you don't want me

Tumbling from the high wire Without a net You're saying I'll stop falling for you But I haven't yet The spotlight dims and the bigtop's coming down Curtains o'er the lover's clown

Girl, that's me everybodies laughing at With a big red nose and the tears and the silly act Comedy, tragedy, reality It all plays the same If you don't want me

Tiny peices of my heart Scattered everywhere Like a fool I played my part But you were never really there A new day dawns and the bigtop's leaving town You can say goodbye to a lover's clown Say goodbye
