

What Ever Happened

Clint Black

Snow up on the mountains
Sun lay low across the cloudy sky
I've been feeding this far for so long
The fame is gone
I can second guess the storm
'till my heart ?
But I'll just stay inside
There's no way that I'll take any chances of my own
What if I get it wrong

Another season come and gone
Proving hard to sing a song
For too few summer skies
All the tourists barely even say goodbye
Back again
Now there's lovers all around
Just some ? will lay down
I don't, to like
It won't be my eyes
That tell me if they found
Fair weather friends

What ever happened to the change of seasons
What ever happened to all my reasons
To open up my heart and let it be
What ever happened to falling in love
What ever happened to me

Sun up on the mountains
Somebody said it happen yesterday
But I guess I can't remember back that far
It's not all there
But the sky was probably blue
Doesn't matter when to view
Depends on where you are
What kind of heart you might be looking through
Or if you can (care?)

What ever happened to the change of seasons
What ever happened to all my reasons
To open up my heart and let it be
What ever happened to falling in love
What ever happened to me

What ever happened to the change of seasons
What ever happened to all my reasons
To open up my heart and let it be
What ever happened to falling in love
What ever happened to me

What ever happened to the change of seasons
What ever happened to all my reasons
Oh just let it be
What ever happened to falling in love
What ever happened to me

Does anyone remember me?

What ever happened to falling in love
What ever happened to me
