

Friends And Family

Clou

The city was shaking
As we moved out towards the center
In a pack we were like wolves
Making one enormous sound
All gleaming teeth and cheering
As the summer heat came creeping
Such friends we have, a family

Call us broken, hopeless
But you're rigid sad and compromised
Prove you have no vision
Of a world that's moving onward
When we all know what we are

Your thoughts are so careless
Such a shallow observation
You think that we're a cannon
Wrecking everything you know
So easily you forget
How you lived and breathed the movement
When you were young and life was long

Call us broken, hopeless
But you're rigid sad and compromised
Prove you have no vision
Of a world that's moving onward
When we still know what you have left behind

Call us broken, hopeless
Prove you have no vision
Of a world that's moving onward
When we still know what you have left behind

Call us broken, call us hopeless
But you're rigid sad and compromised
Prove you have no vision
Of a world that's moving onward
When we still know what you have left behind
