

Time To Make Your Move

Cock Sparrer

When life gets big and your world is small
When you bend your head cos you've got too tall
You know it's time to go over the wall
It's time to make your move

When the rules become too hard to take
And promises are made to break
You need to make your own mistakes
It's time to make your move

You've got everything to prove
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move

No more going with the flow
Saying yes when you mean no
Right or wrong you've got to go
It's time to make your move

They'll cry but know you've got to learn
They did it once, now it's your turn
So cross that bridge before it burns
It's time to make your move

You've got everything to prove
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move
It's time to make your move
