

It's hard to tell
This is my wedding night
I'm dressed and ready, despite my innocence
It's hard to tell whose little girl am I
The man with the black hat
Will take me home tonight
I wash my body, five years grown
He promised father, leave me alone
Hope not too lonely
We pull away down a dusty road
Family waving

Hope not too lonely
Hope not too lonely
Hope not too lonely
Hope not too lonely

I watch the grass blow through the window
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
News from the sparrow, my friendly fellow
They get along just fine without me
They're never lonely
They're never lonely
They're never lonely

I watch the flowers grow outside my window
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
I'm a good grass widow, I'm a grass widow
