

Coasts

Code Orange Kids

There is no binary understanding these wolves can breathe but talk is fking cheap.
No one breathes for anything but flavors of the week.
From coast to coast you will find me here in this coup alone.
For years we'll roam, these are our hours wasted afloat.
I swear to (god)
My minds made up and my feet stand still
I have no love for these creatures and I never fking will.
Counting blessings and cheap rhetoric
I swear you will never live to be part of this spineless faceless bold and basic.