

I (FOUNDATIONS STAND STILL)

Code Orange Kids

Nails scratching at floorboards begging to stay
A pathetic attempt to break from the world
Stagnant in my own selfish love unreturned
Spending everyday praying for the end of a life
Just as shallow as the cowards i surround myself with
And it pounds away
Knowing that i bathe in inevitabilities just to fill this space
Knowing i would do anything for peace
Just a piece of the faith i can smell and see (in you)
(keep building skin of dust and stone)
The kingdoms of my mind will learn to live to let go
Untouchable. you are untouchable
And i just wanna sleep