

If you're wondering why
She's not calling anymore
It's 'cause you bring her back
To the place that she feel's she belongs
With the kiss of a fly
When you're crying on the phone
Because you can't get back down from space
And you are floating alone

So far from home
So far from here
Sunflower alone
Sunflower disappear
Oh my god what have we done

Like the leaves in the trees
All the answer falling down
Little bug in the stream lets
The rain water wash her away

To the edge of the earth
Where she reaches hollow ground
Let the buzz of her wings make a song
That we all want to play

The stone that she's been under
All the phones were down no wonder
It rang and no one answered
Now you're stranded

I've been swallowed up alive
And I've lost my wings used to fly
Just like little bees in a hive
We'll always need a queen to survive
So far from home
So far from here
With a little bit of hope
They see a little light appear

So far from home
So far from here
Sunflower alone
Sunflower disappear
Oh my god what have they done
