All the faces that we've learnt to love,
And all the tears we cried when we opened up.

I've been working, dreaming, wanting something more,
And I'm thinking,
All this shit I'm doing, what's it for?

I'm waiting for the day to arrive.

To us all, it's happening,
Hanging on to anything.

All the faces that we've learnt to love,
And all the tears we cried when we opened up.

All the voices, can you hear them when they're shouting
Out?

Maybe some day we will find out what it's all about.

All the voices, can you hear them when they're shouting
Out?

Maybe some day we will find out what it's all about.

All the fighting,
The hurting, the bleeding, the crying
What's it for?
All the people,
Living, breathing, dying,
Wanting more.

Hanging onto life, you can see it in our eyes.
Oh, and I declare there's no where to hide.

All the faces that we've learnt to love,
And all the tears we cried when we opened up.

I'm waiting for the day to arrive.
