

The Camper Velourium II: Backend of Forever

Coheed and Cambria

Rocked silent in a soft lullaby panic stirred me awakened by a ringing phone in time where and when would I see her?
Crazy were the words that scribbled out your mouth I stuttered replacing your face to those words where and when would I kill her?
I'll wish on this, I'll wish with this I, I'll wish... to the bitter end of my day Well, where were you?

So you had your turn and you made it work now I'm the laughing stock of your joke as crazy as it may seem I cried for you when you told me to date all of the things that made you end up in my life and I'll believe anything I have no luck with girls I overheard that you were unhappy too misleading toss into a relationship that makes no sense over and out Connecticut but you had your back turned there as you faded away to the end of my day I found out you weren't worth what I thought of you what I thought of you write this down in your diary you abuse can we make plans can I just get through to you is this weird...do I scare her?

I'll wish on this, I'll wish with this I, I'll wish... that you could share the love you'd shared with other s, with me

So you had your turn and you made it work
now I'm the laughing stock of your joke
as crazy as it may seem I cried for you when you
told me to date all of the things that made you end up in my life
and I'll believe anything I have no luck with girls I overheard that you were unhappy too
misleading toss into a relationship that makes no sense
over and out Connecticut
but you had your back turned there as you faded away
to the end of my day I found out
you weren't worth what I thought of you
what I thought of you

This isn't love so forever let it go...forever let it burn This isn't love there on the backend of forever I wish I would never hurt again [w/ ad libs]