Break Through

Colbie Caillat

Why is it so hard It was so long ago I don't know where to start or what to say to you I've been all alone needing you by my side But it's not too late Maybe we just needed time Can we try to let it go? If we don't than we'll never know I try to break through but you know that it's up to you

We say that time is meant to heal But it still hurts inside I wish that none of this was real Cause we're so far behind

You've been all alone Needing me by your side But it's not too late Maybe we just needed time Can we try to let it go If we don't than we'll never know I try to break through But you know that it's up to you

And I know that our love can grow But this damn river needs to flow I will try to break through but you know that it's up to you

It's time to make a stand Maybe it won't last But we should take this chance

Can we try to let it go If we don't than we'll never know I try to break through But you know that it's up to you I know that our love can grow When this damn river needs to flow I will try to break through But you know that it's up to you

I'll try to break through but you that it's up to you I'll try to break through but you that it's up to you