

Tailor Made

Colbie Caillat

Twenty-five,
All of these mixed emotions,
Tangled up in pure confusion,
It's hard to let go of the past, but it seems,
Easier as time is moving

Well you said he makes you laugh,
And he makes you happy,
He sees you smiling back,
It is everlasting

And so he's tailor made for you,
With stunning golden hues,
And one sweet tone to soothe,
Your persistent beating heart it's just a start,
And I have seen you everyday,
You've never been like this before,
He's tailor made, tailor, tailor made

So let go all of these mixed emotions,
Forget all your hesitations,
Together entwined inside this feeling,
Feet off the ground, head hits ceiling

Then he whispered in your ear,
He's absolutely falling,
The words he said are clear,
So don't insist on stalling because

He's tailor made for you,
With stunning golden hues,
And one sweet tone to soothe,
Your persistent beating heart it's just a start,
And I have seen you everyday,
You've never been like this before,
He's tailor made

Oh sister, don't be troubled,
Oh sister, please be calm,
Cause this isn't
What you're used to
At all

He's tailor made for you,
With stunning golden hues,
And one sweet tone to soothe,
Your persistent beating heart it's just a start,
And I, have seen you everyday,
You've never been like this before,
He's tailor made, tailor, tailor made