

You Lie

coldrain

You play these games for so long,
you should know by now. (you're going, going too far).
The things you say and do,
you blame on faith and love,
just tell me, how do you sleep at night?

You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore.
You die, you die a little bit each time.
You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore,
what you are is lost, but no one will ever know.

You play these games for so long,
I guess you still can't tell (you're scarring the ones that you love).
It's time to realize you're drowning in your pride,
so tell me, what the fuck is wrong with you,
that you still can't see the truth?!

Right in front of you!

You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore.
You die, you die a little bit each time.
You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore,
what you are is lost, but no one will ever know.

Liar!
You're going down!

Take a look inside the mirror, tell me what you see,
is that really who you are? Is that what you wanna be?
Take a look inside yourself, then you realize,
what you're doing with your life,
is just throwing it away!

You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore.
You die, you die a little bit each time.
You lie, you lie so much that you don't know anymore,
what you are is lost but no one will ever know.
No one will know.

Take a look inside yourself, then you realize,
what you're doing with your life,
is just throwing it away.