Ain't Worth The Whiskey

Cole Swindell

I don't care that you done me wrong 'Cause I've already moved on I don't care what his name is Girl, it is what it is

I won't waste a dime Or the bartender's time Trying to catch a buzz Over the thought of us.

But I'll drink to a country song To another long work week gone And I'll raise my glass to a long lost buddy I ain't seen. I might stay for one more round Or I might close this place down But don't think for a second I'm out to drown your memory Baby, you ain't worth the whiskey.

It don't matter what your friends say They never liked me anyway So if they see me drunk in this bar It ain't over a broken heart

'Cause I'm drinking to a country song. To another long work week gone And I'm raising my glass to a long lost buddy I ain't seen. I might stay for one more round Or I might close this place down But don't think for a second I'm out to drown your memory Baby, you ain't worth the whiskey.

Cheers to a good country song To another long work week gone And, yeah, I'm raising my glass to those savin' our ass oversea s. I might stay for one more round Hell, I might close this place down But don't think for a second I'm out to drown your memory No, don't think for one second I'm out to drown your memory Girl, you ain't worth the whiskey, no. Baby, you ain't worth the whiskey.
