

Keep The Curtains Closed Today

Colin Blunstone

Let's keep the curtains closed today
And hope that everyone will stay away
This is our first day for quite a while
Let's keep it just for you and me

I hope that there's no sadness in your heart
Could this be just the start of coming home
Alone again we'll find if we were near
Or was it just the fear of being alone

So I won't promise, weep, or lie to you
The answers hide in what we do
Just wish you well and hope that you don't cry
And never, never say goodbye

There's just one thing
I ask of you
There's just one thing
I ask you not to do
Never, never say goodbye
Never, never say goodbye

Let's keep the curtains closed today
Not worry what the people say
The future always seems so far away
So let's make sure we have today
