All the girls and boys are gone away
They never really had much to say
They took off all their clothes and their shoes
Politely asked to be excused

They're the children on parade They have secrets that they share They're the children on parade And nobody knows, nobody knows

All the broken toys lie on the floor There's no more laughter from down the hall Mirror, mirror, mirror on the wall Whatever could have happened to them all?

To the children on parade
And all the secrets that they share
They're the children on parade
And nobody knows, nobody knows

All across the world, just yesterday
All the girls and boys just went away
They took off all their clothes and their shoes
I'd love to someday hear all the news

About the children on parade
And all the secrets that they share
They're the children on parade
And nobody knows, nobody knows
Nobody knows, nobody knows
