

Dear J

Colin Hay

Can you hear what I'm saying
It's okay, can you hear what they're playing
It's a mighty world, but not so mighty without you

I can feel you now
Though I never knew you well
You stayed hidden from my view

Dear J,
I did not hear when you were calling
The sky is gray
The leaves are done with their falling
It's a crazy world, but not so crazy without you

I still see you smile
I never knew your pain
Only light came shinning through

Playing songs in that house up on a hill
Beams of sunlight come shining down all around

Now you're in another world

Dear J,
Innocent and believing
It's okay, there only love that you're leaving
It's a mighty world, but not so mighty without you

I can hear you sing
About just everything
And what we have is what is true
