You Speak My Language

Collective Soul

All around the world Everywhere I go No one understands me No one knows What I'm trying to say

No one understands me They look at me when I talk to them And they scratch their heads They go what's he trying to say

But you, you speak my language Yeah you, you speak my language

All around the world Everywhere I go No one understands me No one knows What I'm trying to say

Even in my hometown My friends make me write it down They look at me when I talk to them And they shrug their shoulders They say what's he talking about
