

You

Collective Soul

Time, I always need more time
To figure what I've lost, to learn what I should find
Soon, I'm always hoping soon
I'll figure what to add, I'll learn what to remove

New sunrise, new sunsets
New stories I haven't lived through yet

With you, it's always been you
There's never been good days
There's never been bad days without you

Choose, I'm always made to choose
I'll figure what to share, I'll learn from what I've used

New sunrise, new sunsets
New promises I haven't made quite yet

To you, it's always been you
There's never been good days
There's never been bad days without you

Yeah, there's never been a day without you
Yeah, there's never been a day
There's never been a night without you

You, it's always been you
There's never been good days
There's never been bad days without you

It's always been you
There's never those good days
There's never those bad days without you