

The birds are flying south tonight
You're cold
And the weather changes overnight
Don't withhold
You see your life was set up for you to watch
And how cruel
You see your expectations will never match
They'll never match

And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go

The birds are flying south tonight
You're cold
And the weather changes overnight
Don't withhold
You see your life was set up for you to watch
And how cruel
You see your expectations will never match
They'll never match

And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go

The birds are flying south tonight
You're cold
And the weather changes overnight
Don't withhold
You see your life was set up for you to watch
And how cruel
You see your expectations will never match
They'll never match

And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go
And you know that you gotta go