

You're The Only Woman I Need

Commodores

We've been apart
One empty night
Suddenly it's serious
And in the dark
You made me see the light Where it's leading is obvious

Like a train Running down the track Heading for the station
I'm not gonna try to change that destination

You're the only woman i need
'Cause you're everything that a woman can be, oh
you're the only woman i need
every single desire every part of my life babe

I've been around Never wanted one night lovers
I only walked away
When my heart told me too
What's done is done
What's past is gone
And now there is nothing missing in my world
It all revolves around you

Every girl, walking down the street
Still has her fascination
I gotta look
I never wanna touch
There's no temptation

You're the only woman i need
Now i don't have to choose
There is no one but you You're the only woman i need
Every day
Every night
You're the one in my life

When you touch me you turn me on I wish i knew where your love comes from
But it works on me Every girl that i've ever known
I could have them all and you would still mean more Behind these doors i started living for your inspiration oh, you're the only woman i need every day every night you're the one in my life babe

you're the only woman i need cause you are everything that a woman can be
you're the only woman i need
every single desire

every part of my life
you're the only woman i need
now i dont have to choose there is no one but you you're the only woman i need
every day
every night