

The God In You

Concrete Blonde

I hear the music play and so I want to stay for ever in this place
I watch you move across the room and wonder at the shadows on your face
Feeling like I'm somewhere in a dream I swim in honey-liquid space
Time has brought me here again to you from where we are as human race

My mantra will always be the sound of your name in my mouth
My melody is when you speak to me like music
My faith in you is so much stronger than the darkness out there
I see it shine through, yes I see the god in you

Mountains move and oceans heave and rain will rise and fall eternally
Mother Earth is moving and she wraps us in her love maternally
Cities crumble into dust and sweep beneath the sand eventually
All across the universe the love will find the love, and love again shall be free

My mantra will always be the sound of your name in my mouth
(Listen to your heart and you will feel)
My melody is when you speak to me like music
(Listen to the love and journey internally)
My faith in you is so much stronger than the darkness out there
(Everything that we were meant to be)
I see it shine through, yes I see the god in you
(Everything that we were meant to be)

My mantra will always be the sound of your name in my mouth
(Listen, listen)
My melody is when you speak to me like music
(Music)
My faith in you is so much stronger than the darkness out there
(Listen to the love, it will set you free)
I see it shine through, yes I see the god in you
(Everything you can be, you will be)

My mantra will always be the sound of your name in my mouth
(Everything and everyone to me)
My melody is when you speak to me like music
(Music all around me I can see)
My faith in you is so much stronger than the darkness out there
(Listen to your heart and let it speak)
I see it shine through, yes I see the god in you
(Listen to your heart and let it speak)