

If you can keep a pride in yourself
There's a chance they'll pick on you
One too many beers, mouthed right off
That comes naturally to you
You think you're among friends but they all fucked off
They've seen whats been coming your way
They won't tell you they've seen the light
They won't help you on the way

For you're pride you'll take the pain
You'll make a stand won't play their game
(x 2)

All the backstabbers you can do without
You don't need them to fuck with you
Got all your own ideas and beliefs
The media will try to discourage you
Don't mess with the best you say to them
You won't listen to all their lies
Stand up for what you think is right
Then you'll be the one that they despise

All the time kicked around in their games
Just another one with fucked up brains
We'll carry on they won't stop us no way
We won't play the games they want us to play
