

The Descent Of Man

Conditions

I admit the rotting state of chivalry And I am well aware that vermin will infest my city streets, yeah But I never thought th at I'd find you Walking with the worst of them, ignoring what y ou knew

Didn't it cross your mind I didn't have to hear it

You were looking, you were thinking "Why not, she's worth it" C ouldn't wait to find her drinking My god, you're worthless I th ought I knew you and I thought I could believe the words you sa y You took advantage anyway

I understand the trying times And I believe that every criminal should pay for all their crime But I never thought I'd find a friend In such blatant disregard for how it all would end

Now you've crossed the line Don't f**k with my life

You keep alluding to the truth you'll never say With every word you'll blow yourself away I'm at a loss, just who the hell do you think you are You took advantage anyway