

The Positive Junk

Conflict

The backlash has started, but we ain't fucking laughing
Take a look at how much has changed, there ain't much to smile about

We've done four years of begging and a lot longer struggling Well ain't it about time, we took back what is ours

Punk formed as a movement to set right what was wrong
The opposing side said no, we're right, you're wrong
They controlled our bands with money and they all sucked off ou r sweat
Well that's the fucking lesson we never must forget

The time moved on and rebellion just seemed to be a bore
As one by one the leaders collapsed, the money bought the whore

Time and time again, we heard new promises were made
But words was all it was, the action was delayed
They tried to salvage something, but the mistake was already do ne

With CBS and EMI backing what went on Those tears upon the stage, we heard they all came from the hea rt

And if we all stood together, it would just be the start Well the start just never happened, as our hopes ran down the d rain

Now take a good look, you'll see its happening again
The punk movement once strong, once offering real change
Is searching fame and fortune, and that just ain't the fucking way

Punk is still our movement; we can put right what is wrong
By learning to say no, we're right, you're wrong
Fuck their fucking future, it means oppression, war and hate
It's time to turn the tables around and recreate the state
