

They Said That...

Conflict

Laws are made to be obeyed and that's the way the system stays
The country stands with troops at hand who provide protection for the state

At school you're taught to play the fool, the path is set, followed by all

Employment gained the nation's safe, it's all for one and none for all

It's time we dismissed all their lies that keep us in position

Their demanding obligations

Their deliberate segregation

Their world of degradation

The mass negotiations in their pointless pleas for sanctions

Class conditioning starts from very young

If you are rich or you are fortunate you get trained and treated better

And if you're not it's just tough shit

The elite are brainwashed into believing that they are respected and highly valued

Rewarded with a higher salary bribed with that extra special interest

Destined to end up playing an important state role, or even protect and serve authority itself

Laws are made to be obeyed and that's the way the system stays
The country stands with troops at hand who provide protection for the state

Schools are used to preach the rule; the path is wrecked, destroyed for all

Employment gained? The country's safe? Now one for all, and all for everyone
